Clark, Ephraim   42b   1-2-3-0-0
    Dearing Town, Hillsborough County

EPHRAIM CLARK, b. in Andover, Mass., 20 July 1745, s. of Joseph and Elizabeth (Cornell/Curneel) Clark [Andover, Mass., VRs, 1:106, 2:85]; prob. d. in Deering bet. 1 March 1803, when his taxes for the year were released [Deering TRs, 1:322], and 28 May 1808, when his son Ephraim is not called "Jr." on the town tax list [ibid., 1:425]; m. ca. 1767 SARAH (____), mentioned once in town records as his wife and mother of two children [Deering TRs, 1:528]. Ephraim signed the Association Test from Deering in 1776. He served in the Revolutionary War in 1777 under Capt. Ninian Aiken at Ticonderoga [NHSP, 15:122; 30:44]. He was elected tithingman on 4 March 1777 and appears on Deering tax lists from 1784 [Deering TRs,, 1:11, 55] until he was relieved of tax-paying in March 1803. On 25 Sept. 1769, he witnessed a deed of his father Joseph Clark to Abraham Cochran of New Boston [Hillsborough Co. Deeds, 2:454], but no probate record or deeds for him were found in Hillsborough Co. records. He was enumerated in Deering in the 1800 [USC, Deering, p. 488], but was not found in 1810. The author Carol Clark Johnson has confused this Ephraim Clark with his cousin of the same name who resided in Methuen, Mass., and New Boston, who married Elinor (____) and had a large family [Clark and Worth Families, 459].
